

... and accessories

The modular design of the Di470 is geared to the differing demands of departmental users and varying office workflows. So you can be sure of the configuration your department needs.

